AMHERST OUTRUNS BLUE TRACK TEAM IN FIRST MEET

Cook, Potter Shatter College Records in Mile and Jump

CASS SECOND HIGH POINT MAN

Hancock Shows Fine Form In First Varsity Race

Middlebury bowed to defeat in her first track meet with the strong team of Amherst at the latter's field on Saturday, May 3, by the score of 87 to 48.

The result of the meet was never in doubt, the Sabrina men being clearly the superiors of the Black Panther men. Despite her defeat, however, Middlebury managed to garner four firsts and Capt. Cook and Potter broke the college records in the quarter mile and high jump respectively. Kendall, running his last year for Middlebury came within two-fifths of a second of the 880 yard record. Cook in cutting his own record to 50 and three fifth seconds for the quarter ran a beautiful race. Potter, heretofore, a mediocre high jumper came to the fore showing surprising form in leaping 5 feet 7 and three-fourths inches to a second place in that event. Hancock, a freshman, showed unusual ability in the two mile race, his first varsity competition. Cass who took the other first place for Middlebury was second high point man for the Blue and White team. He took first in the discus and a second in the hammer throw, for a total of eight points.

The Campus regrets that a complete and official report of the meet is not procurable but prints the following summary showing how Middlebury men placed in the events:

100 yard dash, Crane, second.

220 yard dash, Cook, second; Carboy, third.

Mile run, Fish, third.

440 yard dash, Cook, first (new college record, 50 3-5 second); Happ, third.

120 yard hurdles, Peck, second.

2 mile run, Hancock, first.

880 yard run, Kendall, first.

220 yard hurdles, Peck, second; Carlton, third.

Shot put, McLaughlin, third.

High Jump, Potter, second (new college record, 5 ft. 7 1-4 inches).

Hammer throw, Cass, second.

Discus throw, Cass, first.

Broad jump, Cook, third.

Pole vault, Krichbaum, second.

Javelin Throw, Eddy, third.

Blue Baboon Gets Publicity in Judge

That the college comic, the Blue Baboon, is becoming more and more famous outside the immediate vicinity is proved by the fact that its quips are quoted in other publications. It has been especially honored in having jokes reprinted on the pages devoted to college wits in the national laugh dispenser, JUDGE. In a recent issue the Blue Baboon was quoted five times and the week before saw three jokes taken from its pages. The editor, John E. Connelly, '26, declares that the next issue entitled "The Plastic Age Number" which will be out next week will far outdo all previous issues.

Blue Baboon Board Elects Officers For Year

At the annual meeting of the Blue Baboon staff yesterday afternoon, John E. Connelley, jr., of New York City was elected editor-in-chief for the coming year; Adrian C. Leiby, of Bergenfield, N. J., was elected managing editor and Paul Ward, of Akron, Ohio, art editor. Ralph L. DeGroff was elected circulation manager, Robert S. Pfleuger, local advertising manager; Edward S. Twichell, national advertising manager; E. C. McClure, assistant editor and Charles E. Vose to the art staff.

L. C. HARRIS RESIGNS PLACE ON CAMPUS

Will Continue To Handle Sports—McLeod Fills Vacancy

At a meeting of The Campus Board last Monday afternoon in The Campus office the resignation of Lloyd C. Harris, '26, as assistant editor was presented and accepted and James C. McLeod, '26, was elected to fill the vacant position.

Mr. Harris tendered his resignation at this time realizing that it would be more valuable both to his successor and to The Campus if his position was filled at this time rather than in the fall. He has been associated with The Campus for the past two years, handling practically all of the athletic events during this time and has been a valuable asset because of his wide knowledge of journalism. He has had much experience in metropolitan newspaper work and can handle sports and interviews with much skill. Altho he will not be a member of the board Mr. Harris will continue to handle sports writeups for the remainder of the year.

In addition to his work with The Campus, Harris was one of the founders and the first editor in chief of The Blue Baboon and for the past year has been editor of The Press Club.

Harris will enter the College of Journalism at the Ohio State University at Columbus in September where he will take his degree.

Parker Prize Contest To Be Held May 28

Scarcity of Speakers Makes Only Six Speakers, Three Prizes Possible

The Parker Prize Speaking Contest for Freshmen will be held in the Mead Chapel on May 28. This year, due to the lack of the usual number of contestants only six freshmen will take part.

The Parker Prizes were established early in Middlebury's history by gifts of Daniel Parker in 1807 and Professor Frederick Hall in 1820. The four prizes of $50, $35, $25 and $20 are awarded to the four men of the Freshmen Class who are adjudged the best speakers in a contest to be held sometime during the second semester of the college year.

Training for the Parker Prize Speaking is done at present in a one-hour course which is conducted by Professor Wilfred E. Davison. The custom has usually been to have eight contestants with one-half of them receiving prizes. However the scarcity of speakers in the freshman class has necessitated that there be only six contestants and three prizes this year. The competition among those who are out for the prizes promises to be unusually keen.

FESTIVE WEEK-END TO OPEN WITH THE GALA JUNIOR PROM

Prexy Will Greet Sub-Frosh Tomorrow

FROSH-SOPH TUSSLE ACROSS PORTER POND

Fraternity Stunts An Added Feature This Year

Junior Week which commences tomorrow at noon promises to throw Middlebury into a round of activities such as she has never known before. Every effort has been made by this year's Junior Week committee to draw up a more complete program than any that has ever been carried out in the past. Besides the usual baseball games, tennis matches, the Junior Prom and Junior Play, many new and interesting features have been added to this year's program.

At 1:30 p. m. on Thursday, President Moody will welcome the sub-freshmen in a short address in the Old Chapel. Immediately after this the first game of the state series will be held on Porter Field when Middlebury meets the Norwich nine. On Thursday evening comes the Junior Prom, which to many is the one big event of the Junior Week festivities.

In an effort to give the sub-freshmen an idea of the courses offered at Middlebury, there will be departmental tours of the college buildings and short talks by the heads of the various departments on Friday moring. The big baseball game of the season, the contest with Vermont will be held on Porter Field at 2:30 Friday afternoon. A new feature will be introduced when just before the Vermont game a half mile relay race will be held by the various fraternities. A silver cup will be given to the winner.

The annual freshmen-Sophomore rope pull will have added interest this year for the rope is to be stretched across the pond. This is the first time that the water hazard has been introduced and there is sure to be keen rivalry to decide which of the lower classes is to have the first swim of the season. This event will take place at 5 p. m. on Friday.

The Glee Club under the direction of Prof. Alfred O. Larsen will hold its concert in the gymnasium in the evening. The club, which has the reputation of being the best in Middlebury's history, promises to provide an unusually good concert.

Another new feature of this year's program will be the fraternity stunts. They will take place Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the open space in front of the gymnasium. Each of the seven fraternities is forking hard in an effort to produce the best stunt. The winner of this will also receive a silver loving cup.

Saturday afternoon will be given over to tennis. The first match of the season will be held, with the University of Vermont as opponents. The annual inter-fraternity sing will be held in the evening at 6:45 on the steps of the gymnasium. The Junior Play "Captain Applejack" will bring to a close the week-end festivities.

The inter-sorority sing will be held Sunday evening on the steps of Pearson's Hall.

Correction

The Interfraternity sing will be held immediately after the Junior Play instead of after as announced above.

BLACK PANTHER NINE WINS TWO AND LOSES TWO ON ANNUAL TRIP; WORCESTER TECH AND B. U. DEFEATED

Capt. Hastings' Twirling and Home Run Features of B. U. Win

TOWNE SHINES IN B. C. GAME

Harvard Game Was Very Slow and Uninteresting

(By Lloyd C. Harris)

In their first real test of the season the Middlebury nine on their annual "southern" trip to Massachusetts acquitted themselves in fine shape with a record of two victories and two defeats last week in which they won over Boston University and Worcester Tech 3-2 and 8-1 and lost to Harvard and Boston College 11-5 and 4-1. With exception of the first game with Harvard the Blue and White played excellent baseball and displayed real form against their Bay State opponents.

In their first game the Middlebury team failed to realize the scoring opportunities presented by the sloppy fielding miscues of the Crimson defense and lost but found itself on Thursday in a hitting spree against Worcester Tech where they knocked Calder, the W. P. I. star twirler from the box in the third and piled up 14 clean hits.

Friday the team returned to the Hub and in a gruelling contest won over B. U. 3 to 2 mainly thru the stellar pitching and stick work of Capt. Hastings who broke up the game in the eighth with a home run and paved the way for a Middlebury victory.

Continuing their big league stride the Black Panther met the highly touted Boston College Eagle on Saturday and succeeded in holding them to a 4 to 1 score by clever twirling by Towne who also excelled at the bat.

Hastings and Towne bore the brunt of the mound duty, each taking their fling at the Crimson batsmen with Klevenow doing his stuff in fine fashion against Worcester. Hastings and Towne continued their performance on Friday and Saturday in the Hub.

Harvard Game Slow

In a slow, uninteresting game at Soldier's Field on Wednesday in which Middlebury failed to take advantage of frequent scoring opportunities Harvard won 11 to 5 by piling up a 9 run lead in the first three innings that enabled them to hold the game in their possession during the other six frames in spite of their poor work in the field and in every other department of the

Campus Boards Banquet At Tea Time Tavern

Speeches Are Given By Old and New Editors and Business Managers

The retiring and incoming Campus Boards were entertained at the Tea Time Tavern Thursday evening. Oscar Cooley, '25, Editor-in-Chief of the retiring board presided, and after the banquet, he called on a few of the members both of the old and new staffs. Clarence Botsford, '24, retiring Business Manager, was the first to address the group. Following a short introduction, the new Editor-in-Chief, J. Audrey Clark, '26, briefly stated his appreciation of the trust conferred on him and the hope that with the cooperation of all he could keep the Campus up to this year's excellency. Eugene Montandon, '26, new Business Manager, suggested a few ways of making the Campus pay and then the Advisor of Campus, Professor Skillings, spoke seriously of a few phases of the publication. The last speaker was the guest of the evening, D. Haydn Parry.

Physical Education Work Demonstrated By Girls

A demonstration of the work done by women's classes in Physical Education was given in the gymnasium on the second of May. Folk-dances, gymnastic exercises, and games were given by the freshmen. The exercises and apparatus work were directed by the advanced classes. The play-ground girls presented games and imitation exercises. The entire demonstration showed the excellence of Miss Young's work. It surveyed the work of all the courses, bringing out the educational and physical value of the work. The exhibition was well attended.

"Ring Out the Old; Ring In the New!"

With this issue the new editor wields the editorial pen and the new board makes its bow to the student body. Tradition has it that at the beginning of a new administration a foreword should be given stating the policy to be followed for the ensuing year. Therefore, we are taking this opporunity to state our aims and purposes.

At this time we wish to congratulate the Old Board upon the success of the past year. It has been especially fortunate to have had such capable leadership as that given by the man who is retiring from the editor's chair. His editorial policy has been one of a thought-provoking nature. He voiced his opinions without fear or favor. They may not have been particularly pleasing to the student body, but they brought certain matters to their attention. And for this, the retiring editor must be given credit. A standard has been set by the Old Board which shows us that to equal it will be no easy task.

It is our purpose to deal fairly with all college interests. We shall play no favorites and shall present unbiased views of campus problems and conditions. Our opinions when stated will be free from spite or malice. We shall devote our columns to the best interests of the college and the student body. We shall strive to remember that the board represents the entire college, and not simply one group, and to act accordingly.

This in brief is to be our policy for the coming year. If we are to be successful in maintaining it, we must have the cooperation of every individual, not simply on the board, but of the student body. We ask your leniency in judging these first efforts at publishing The Campus, for mistakes are inevitable. We shall appreciate any constructive criticisms the students may care to offer.

We earnestly request that more communications be sent to the editor for publication. They may be on any subject and of any length. We wish to ascertain the opinion of the student body on the various campus problems. Remember, however, that by publishing such opinions we do not necessarily endorse them. This is your paper and you should have a share in it.

With these aims and intentions we take up our new responsibilities. If the students will give us loyal support we shall do all in our power to keep up the high standards set for us by our predecessors.

Impressions

Beginning tomorrow noon and continuing the remainder of this week, Middlebury plays host. The sub-freshmen who come here at this time are our guests. They come to see what kind of a college Middlebury is. To many it will be a first impression. We all realize the importance of first impressions. They often become lasting ones. So it lies with the student body to determine what this impression shall be. A small thing like a tone of cordiality in your voice when you say "Hello" can do much to make a visitor feel welcome—feel that we are of the right sort—that Middlebury is a worthwhile place. All who come for Junior Week will not choose Middlebury as their college but if we treat them cordially, they will go forth with a word of praise for this college. Can we afford to have them do otherwise?

Now that the IDLER has ceased to idle and has a steady job, the position he held must needs be filled. We therefore take pleasure in introducing a geneleman whose only name is BILL, and who will lend his versatile wit and humor to the enlivening of our somber editorial page. He has confided to us that he will welcome any contributions altho he doesn't want to put the Blue Baboon out of business. It might be well to keep your eye on the THE BILLBOARD.

THE BILLBOARD

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE"

Hello Folks:

Seeing as we do not have to study as profoundly this week, and the fact that this is my initial appearance, I presume I might utilize some of that wuxtra time and paste a few posters as it were. If I were a Radio Man I might begin in a pompus voice thusly, "Station Airy, wave length two 2's, let'er go! Good afternoon folks." But I guess maybe I won't do that this time. Guess there is too much static in me brain.

The other afternoon a fellow came into the office, dimensions two by four. That means the office. During the course of our conversation, which digressed from time to time and then back again, he related a story. The substance of it is as follows:

There was once a family and as families go, one with a tradition. There were in the domicile a distant, but kind father, a gracious mother, six foolish girls, seven obstreperous boys, and a black cat.

There was among the many family heirlooms an old cane which had been the property of the founder of this family, and to which there was quite a bit of tradition attached. But for all of the children this cane might well have been a fence post. As such it would have received much more attention. Queer children were they not?

As a whole these children did not get along well together. They would not cooperate even for the progress and betterment of their family. On the surface they might appear to be extremely cordial to each other, but underneath there was constant turmoil and deceit. Deception was a common practice. Kindness was dispensed with as an unnecessary element, except in cases where there was a point to be gained. In every sort of activity there was opposition and distrust.

After a long time of such chaos there came a day when the future of this family was to be decided. Whether it was to be a success or a failure was up to the members of the family. To do this for success there must be cooperation. To cooperate was a new thing to these children and could not be brot about and the family fell.

Well, that was quite a narrative wasn't it? Guess maybe there is a moral attached:

If a family, a society, or an institution is to Operate it must have the spirit to COOPERATE.

Let's see, this is Junior Week. Well, can you imagine all the frivolity that the whole bunch will pass thru. I suppose all the boys and girls will be gamboling over the greens. In some spots there will be seen clods of dirt and showers of gravel sailing thru the air. The fair ones will be digging diligently for—angle worms with which to go fishing. I have a faint idea that some of you thot I was going to say gold, instead of angle worms. You must remember that the girls up here aren't that kind. Beg your pardon? Yes. Yes. This is supposed to be a humorous column, to some extent.

I trust I'll see you all at the Prom, Play and Concert. Oh, by the way will all those taking Musical Appreciation please bring pencils so that they may jot down the main themes, etc., of the various selections. This is important for these themes will be sung, by the various members, at the subsequent meeting of the class.

Before I close let me give you a definition for hash. Of course we seldom have it but then she should know of what it is made.

Hash is a happy recurrence at a subsequent meal of all the conglomerate remnants of a preceding repast.

Middlebury Is Co-Educational

One of the first questions a stranger will ask about Middlebury is, "Is it co-educational?" When we answer that it is, the query comes, "Then what is the attitude toward the women?" To this we can reply emphatically that the attitude which is prevalent in many co-educational colleges in the East is not in mode here. In some such colleges, it is no myth that oftentimes feminine sub-freshmen withdraw their applications when they find that the women's interests are slighted, that they are forced into the background, and that they are not on an equal plane with the men. No such action need ever be taken by a freshmen entering Middlebury. Many institutions, where the presence of women is strongly resented, claim that it comes from the fact that the women were admitted years after the men, and that the school was founded first exclusively for men.

At Middlebury women were not registered until 1883, 83 years after the men. During that time, in spite of minor fluctuating tendencies, a strong feeling of comradeship has grown up, and given us the harmonious relations that exist today. This situation has not come through the effort of the women alone, or the men alone, but through the sincere cooperation of the two for their mutual benefit. The new Campus Board, or those members of it representing Middlebury's coeds, are proud of this spirit, and stand for it's continuation.

ENGLISH SCHOOL ANNOUNCES PROGRAM

Staff of Six Special Lecturers Feature of Summer Session

The bulletin of The School of English is attracting attention in many sections of the country, and registrations are being received daily. The Bread Loaf program this year includes fifteen courses. The regular staff of twelve instructors is supplemented by a staff of six special lecturers, Robert Frost, Grace Hazard Conkling, Charles S. Brooks, and John Farrar will each remain at the School for a week, their lectures constituting a course as Studio in Creative Writing. The last two weeks of this course will be in charge of Edith M. Luttman, a teacher from England. Henry S. Canby, editor of "The Literary Review," will visit the School. In the next issue of The Campus will be published the first installment of the Bread Loaf "Who's Who." Students desiring copies of the bulletin may secure them at the office of the Summer Session, on the top floor of the Old Chapel. Middlebury undergraduates desiring to attend the School should consult with Dean W. E. Davison. A few more students are needed to assist with the work of the Inn.

Ruth Whitney, '25 Elected President of W. A. A.

At the meeting of the women's athletic association held Thursday afternoon in the Old Chapel, the following officers were chosen for next year: President, Ruth Whitney, '25; vice-president, Clara Park, '26; treasurer, Lillian Randquist, '25; custodian, Eleanor Frost, '26; secretary, Jennie Marchiano, '27.

She has also been assistant business manager of the Saxonian, and for the Kaleidoscope, and is a member of the Delta Delta Delta fraternity.

Miss Park has played baseball and hockey for two years, and "subbed" on the basketball team. She is a member of Theta Chi Epsilon sorority

Maison Francaise Holds May Day Festivities

The bad weather which dampened the spirits of a good many souls on May Day did not have the slightest effect upon those cheerful beings at the French House. Their frolicsome spirit was made manifest in the festivities held in the dining-room directly after dinner. Two thrones were erected and Katherine Royce was crowned Queen of the May. After the coronation the little queen was entertained by a blithesome Maypole dance. She chose Prof. Hardre to be King, and he was duly crowned, after which each one present passed by the thrones and paid their respects to Royalty. The King presented the Queen with a very "French" French doll.

English Club Enjoys Readings

The meeting of the English Club, held last Wednesday evening at Hepburn Hall, was an exceptionally interesting one. Pres. Oscar Cooley, '25, gave a reading from James Whitcomb Riley which followed by readings from Edna St. Vincent Millay, Frank Stockton, and Carl Sandburg, rendered by Rosa Brooks, '24, Dana Hawthorne, '26, Frances Frost, '27, and Prof. Cady. Among other business the names of new members were voted upon.

Said a friend to the proud father of a college graduate who had just been awarded an A. M. degree: "I suppose Phil will be looking for a Ph. D. next."

"No, he will be looking for a J. O. B."—Exch.

The committee was composed of Ruth Cowles, chairman; Doris Upton, literature; Helen Littlejohn, biology; Helen Cleveland, athletics; Marion Billings, social service; Martha Baldwin, health activities; Beatrice Mills, business, and Janice Meade, chemistry. On Wednesday, thirty-three students were given individual conferences. Miss Jackson ranked Middlebury with only one other college she has visited for its punctuality and hospitality.

On Friday afternoon, May 2, the first double-header of the season was run off at Porter Field. In the first game Delta Upsilon ran up a 12-4 score on the Faculty nine. The Chi Psi-Chi Kappa Mu game ended in a lop-sided whitewash, Chi Psi winning by the score of 26-0.

These games were followed on Saturday by the Alpha Sigma Phi-Neutral game. In the most hard-fought game of the series played so far, the Alpha Sigs won by a 5-4 score. On Monday afternoon Kappa Delta Rho defeated Sigma Phi Iota by the score of 15-4.

MUST HAVE THE COURAGE OF CHRIST

Says Rev. Albert J. Butzer In Sunday Vespers Sermon

Rev. Albert J. Butzer, of Ridgewood, N. J., speaking at the vespers service Sunday, said, "Too often the Master has been portrayed as one in whom the effeminate characteristics of gentleness, meekness, kindness, and love, predominate. We have lost sight of his vigorous, mountain-like qualities, the greatest among which was courage. His was more than physical courage; it was a moral courage, and finds its expression in that line of the Scriptures which reads, 'And he steadfastly set his face to go to Jerusalem.'

"During Christ's time, the Jewish people were trained to accept unquestionably the ancient traditions of the race. The more Christ pondered, the more he was convinced that these traditions were not all they appeared to be, that instead of making the people religious, they made them irreligious. The old laws were considered the most sacred things, yet Jesus dared to undertake to overthrow the accumulated religious traditions of a thousand years. He knew that it would demand of him the complete sacrifice of himself, but he did not flinch. He had the courage to tackle a hard job. If the world is to be made a better place, if the Kingdom of Heaven is to come on earth, if war is to be abolished, and if the churches are to stop this petty quarreling over theological questions, we must have the courage of the Christ.

"Every man and woman must stand alone. The Master stood his ground resolutely and would not yield an inch; the cross is the supreme evidence of his courage to stand alone. There was never a greater need for courage among the young people as there is today. We are swayed to and fro by the wills and wishes of the people about us. It is painfully apparent that what we need today in our colleges and universities is the courage of the Christ to stand alone, to have the courage of our convictions, to refuse to go against our deepest beliefs of the right.

"Are we going to change our ideals and thoughts and ways of living to conform to the shifting ideas of the day? Consider the Master's courage to carry on. Life for him was never easy, and those three years of his public ministry grew continually harder. He would not give up: the greater the pressure was without, the stronger he was within. The best kind of courage is that which never lets go. It is not the fact that you are defeated that counts, but how you fight and why. If you young people are to make a good job of life, you must have the courage of the Christ. And you can gain it only by living from day to day in close relationship to the Christ, and his courage will become yours."

Track Team Leaves For Two Dual Meets

Coach Brown, Manager Anderson, Captain Cook, and a squad of about twenty men will leave Friday moring for Worcester, Mass., where they will engage the team of Worcester Polytechnic Institute in a dual meet on Saturday. Worcester has an unusually good team this year, having recently defeated Rensselaer Polytech, conquerers of the Blue and White last season.

Immediately following the Worcester meet, the team will journey to Storrs, Connecticut, for a meet with the Connecticut Aggies on Monday, May 12. The strength of the Aggies' team is not known.

MIDDLEBURY BEATS ST. MICHAELS 6 TO 4

Hasting's Twirling Kills Purple and Gold Hopes

Excellent support and timely tapping of the ball enabled Middlebury to defeat St. Michaels 6 to 4 in the first state contest of the season at Winooski Park on Monday afternoon.

Middlebury got away to a two-run lead in the early part of the game and went along fine until the fourth inning when Klevenow became nervous with the result that the upstate collegians were able to shove four runs across the plate. Again in the fifth it appeared that St. Michaels would score again and Hastings was sent in with two men on bases and quickly retired the St. Michaels batting order.

The Blue and White scored again in the sixth and in the seventh. In the last part of the game St. Michaels men frequently got on bases but were unable to score thru clever infield support.

ALUMNI COLUMN

Mr. Ben B. Corsen a graduate of Harvard University and at present a graduate student at the same institution has accepted an appointment as instructor in the Chemistry department of Middlebury.

Varsity Nine To Tackle the Cadets Tomorrow—U. V. M. Coming Friday

(By Lloyd C. Harris)

After a rest of two days the Blue and White nine will again swing into action tomorrow afternoon on Porter Field against the cadet nine from Norwich University in the first attraction of Junior Week. While no comparative scores are available the Blue and White should make a strong showing against the Norwich nine. On Friday University of Vermont will be the attraction in what will be one of the big games of the year. Vermont has been going at top speed all year and made an enviable reputation on their southern trip in which they met several of the leading college teams. However judging by the score of the two teams against Boston College Capt. Hastings men should have more than an even chance against the Green and Gold as B. C. defeated them 4 to 0 while the Black Panther outfit succeeded in holding them to a 4 to 1 tally last Saturday.

Informal at D. K. R. House

An informal dance was held at the Kappa Delta Rho House last Saturday evening. The twenty-five couples who were present danced to the music of Hunter's three-piece orchestra. Dr. and Mrs. Harrington and Mrs. Scribner acted as chaperones.

Keen, but nervous amateur: "I say, old chap, what shall I do if they ask me to sing?"

Candid Friend: "Do? Why, sing, of course—it'll be your own fault!"—Goblin.

Blue and White Netmen To Meet U. V. M. Saturday

(By Lloyd C Harris)

Bringing to a close the athletic attraction of Junior Week the Middlebury tennis team will meet the net men from the University of Vermont on Saturday afternoon in the first court contest of the season, as the first scheduled contest with St Michael's last Saturday was called off on account of rain. Middlebury has been held up this year by inclement weather and poor playing surfaces and will naturally enter their first match under a handicap as the U. V. M. men have been out for several weeks.

Delegates to Attend Conference

The editor, J. Audrey Clark, '26, and the business manager, Eugene V. Montandon, '26, leave tomorrow for New Haven where they will represent The Campus at the annual Eastern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association's Convention to be held under the auspices of the Yale Daily News.

Black Panther Nine Wins Two and Loses Two

game. Capt. Percy Jenkins of Harvard went after two flies and allowed them to drop as hits as did also McGlone and Campbell.

Harvard started scoring in the first frame with a home run by Todd to left center with two on bases and scored two more tallies before the inning closed.

Middlebury made a fine start with two runs in the first when Capt. Hastings singled and Klevenow reached second on a pop fly folowed by a single by Whitney. Again in the third Middlebury scored when a single by Towne netted two more runs when Brown went wild and allowed Middlebury to fill the bases. The final Middlebury score came in the seventh when poor fielding enabled the Blue and White to shoot another run over the platter.

Altho outplaying the Crimson in every inning Middlebury was slow in grasping the opportunity offered by the Harvard miscues. Middlebury garnered 8 base hits against 10 for Harvard and Whitney and Conley did stellar work with the stick the former getting two hits out of four chances and Conley making two safeties out of three trips to the plate.

Blue and White Defeats Worcester

On Thursday the Blue and White team came back strong defeating Worcester Tech 8 to 1 on a rain-soaked field on which they demonstrated their hitting and base running ability very cleverly by gathering 12 base safeties against six that the Worcester team collected off Klevenow and stealing an even dozen bases.

Middlebury started the chase in the second inning when they found Calder for everything he offered in the line of pitching. Klevenow went out at first after which Hasseltine was given his base on balls and immediately stole second and third scoring on Martin's hit thru short. Conley hit to center field scoring Martin and after stealing second Conley scored on Kilbride's single Papke flied to third and Kilbride was caught out between first and second.

In the third Middlebury started in where they left off in the preceding game when Whitney reached first on an error and completed the circuit to home plate on Hastings hit into left field, Hastings going on to second on the whiff to the plate. Novotny drove a hit into short scoring Hastings and scored himself on Hasseltine's double after Klevenow had sacrificed him to second. Hasseltine was cut short at the plate in an attempt to score on Conley's fly back at first.

Due to the onslaught of the Blue and White, Calder was yanked from the box in the middle of the third and replaced by Alberti who was hit freely but succeeded in keeping his hits scattered.

Again in the sixth Middlebury tallied when Martin was walked and stole second and sacrificed to third by Kilbride and scored on Papke's hit. The final run came in the eighth when Hasseltine stole second after being given a pass to first stealing home on Kilbride's hit.

Worcester's only count came in the fourth when McAuliffe made first on a hit to center field. He stole second and came home on Capt. Higgins' double to left field.

Hastings Twirls to Victory

Air tight twirling plus a two bagger in the third and a home run in the eighth by Capt Hastings enabled him to defeat almost single handed the Boston University nine at Cambridge on Friday afternoon in one of the most thrilling games of the college baseball world this season.

Neither team was able to do anything in the line of scoring until the fifth inning when Gorman smashed out a home run and started the scoring for Boston University. Then the game settled down again into a scoreless struggle with prospects of a 1-9 victory for the Bostonians.

Then came the eighth. Capt. Hastings came to bat and larruped the ball for a circuit clout and tieing the score at one all. Unnerved by this terrific clout by Hastings, MacDonald weakened on the mound for B. U. and Novotny and Hasseltine both hit safely. Keliher fumbled the ball at the plate and allowed Novotny to score and Hasseltine came home on a single by Conley and scored the winning run.

B. U. threatened again in the ninth and nearly turned into a tie and possible victory as three B. U. men got on bases. Papke threw wild and allowed Gorham to score again. With two men out Hannon was sent in to pinch hit for Keliher but fanned and left Middlebury the victors by a one run margin.

Middlebury Loses to B. C.

On Saturday Middlebury presented a much more formidable lineup against B. C. than the Eagles had been accustomed to this season especially in the line of pitching and the famed B. C. batsmen were utterly unable to translate the language of Towne's offerings, Phillips, Wilson and Darling going hitless.

Middlebury started the scoring in the second frame when Mulowney blew up momentarily and walked Conley who advanced to third on Kilbride's drive. Frankie Towne then came to the plate and made a hard drive to deep center bringing in Conley for the lone Middlebury tally of the contest.

Boston College then got started and scored two runs in the same frame when Cronin drove a home run to left. The third inning was scoreless but the Eagles flash two more runs in the fourth. B. C. threatened again in the sixth but quick work by Middlebury fielders prevented further scoring. The game was called in the eighth to enable the team to catch a train.
